Every student attending a course at the Wine School of Philadelphia receives an onboarding email. This email comes within a week of the program's start and includes a secure link. This link gives the student online access to the National Wine School online portal. Students must follow the onboarding process to earn their credentials.

Onboarding Confirmation:

- If the program appears on your transcript at the National Wine School, you have successfully onboarded.

Email Troubleshooting:

- If you're unsure you received the onboarding email, check your spam or junk folder.
- Review our Notice for Yahoo, Comcast, Outlook, and Hotmail Users.
- If someone purchased the program for you, it will have been sent to their email address.

You Didn't Onboard During the Program.

- Your certification is in jeopardy, and you must apply for the NWS Certification Recovery Program.

Note:

Maintaining a reliable email account and asking for onboarding details early in the semester is crucial. Missing the onboarding process puts your certification in jeopardy.
